Brian May, Denis Pellerin & Paula Fleming proudly present their Diableries exhibition; a devilment of colourful and infernally detailed three-dimensional images of the underworld, originating from the 19th century, to celebrate the launch of the complete edition of their acclaimed book, Diableries: Stereoscopic Adventures in Hell.

For one day only, Soho's Century Club will be transformed into a gothic Victorian crypt of temptation and seduction. Whilst surrounded by fantastic imagery depicting demonic scenes with carousing skeletons, devils and satyrs, you will have the opportunity to see the Diableries stories come to life in 3-D. Brian will display a selection of his original Diableries cards along with some of his most treasured stereoscopes and 3-D cameras from the Victorian days.

There will also be a 3-D screening of the spellbinding Diableries animated short film, One Night in Hell. AND the original iconic skull guitar from Queen's It's A Hard Life video - that makes an appearance in the film with a skeleton rocking the underworld - will also be on exhibit to the public for the very first time as part of the stereoscopic adventure in hell.
